

McDonald's Crew Accounts, and How to Register Yours

Welcome to McDonald's!
This guide will help you register a McDonald's Crew Account.

The registration process usually takes five minutes or less!

A Restaurant Manager or Crew Trainer may guide you to specific Crew Account resources.*

Why do I need a McDonald's Crew Account?

Crew Accounts provide access to content that's available only to authorized users, like you! Registering a Crew Account will enable your access to important applications that may be used in your restaurant, like:

- ✓ Fred and Campus: Training information and courses
- ✓ Workplace: A fun app where you can communicate and connect with others in your restaurant
- ✓ Team Center: Where you can view your work schedule, for example
- ✓ McDPerks & McD Bravo!: McDonald's discount and incentive programs
- ✓ + other helpful resources, with more added from time to time

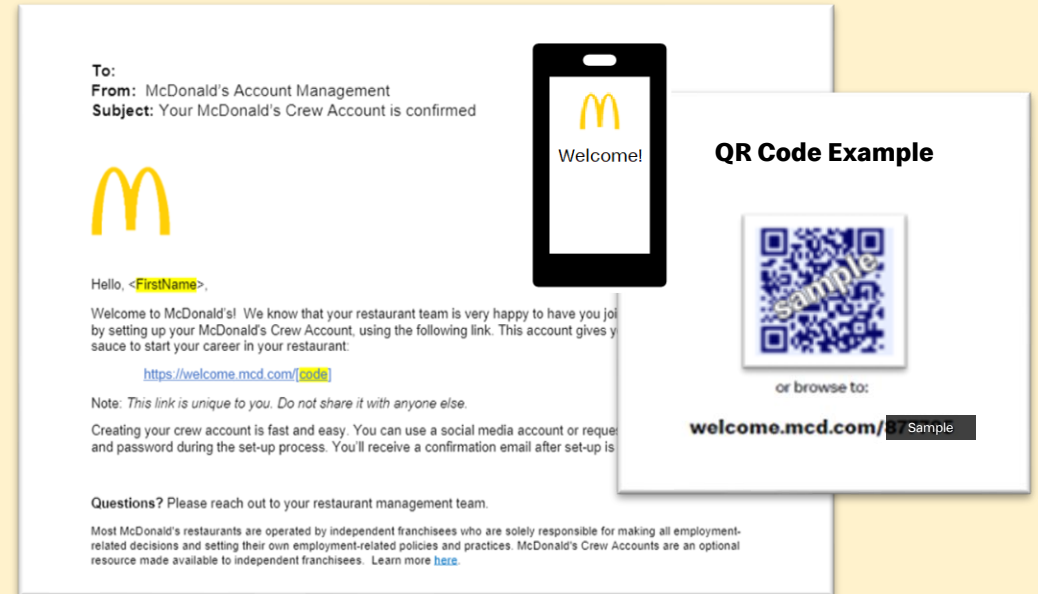

*Most McDonald's restaurants are operated by independent franchisees who are solely responsible for making all employment-related decisions and setting their own employment-related policies and practices. McDonald's Crew Accounts are an optional resource made available to independent franchisees. Any use of this resource by an independent franchisee or a franchisee's employee does not create a principal-agent relationship between McDonald's Corporation (or any of its subsidiaries) and the independent franchisee, nor does it create an employment relationship between McDonald's Corporation (or any of its subsidiaries) and any franchisee's employees. If you work for a franchisee, please check with your franchisee, or the person designated by your franchisee (for example, your General Manager), to determine whether and which aspects of this resource your franchisee has chosen to use, if any.
